the prisoner's removal to Baltimore. Andrews is acrosed of a criminal assault upon Mrs, Mary Kelly, a young white woman, the mother of two children.

Sheriff Nelson, of Somerset county, reached Baltimore to-night with William Andrews. A crowd gathered at Princess Anne prior to the departure thence, and much indignation was expressed because of the removal of the prisoner, but no attempt was made to take him from the Sheriff. MEMORIAL TO OFFICER CRANE.

A beautiful and appropriate shaft has been reared by the Woodmen of the World to the cherished memory of their departed Sovereign, William W. Crane, and this evening at 4 o'clock it will be unveiled at Oakwood Cemetery. The perfume of this man's memory is fresh still in Richmond's heart. He was the young policeman who died a short while ago, honored and, what is a great deal better, held in tender regard by all who knew him. Gentle, kindly, thoughtful of others, earnest, are descriptions which tell very faintly something of his every-day life. The older people cherished him for his real worth, the children toved him because he was kind to them and

ELECTION CONTESTS.

DEPOSITIONS TO BE OPENED AT WASHINGTON TO-MORROW.

JEFFERSON DAVIS'S DESK. The One Used When Mississippian Was Secretary of War Either Stolen or Sold-Republican Efforts

WASHINGTON, May 8 .- (Special.) - Deositions will be opened by the Clerk of the House on Monday in the contestedelection cases of John R. Brown against Claude A. Swanson, in the Fifth Virginia District; R. T. Thorp against Sidney P. Epes, in the Fourth Virginia District, and R. A. Wise against William A. Young, in the Second Virginia District. This is only [a formal matter, however, and has no reference to the hearing of these contests, as there is no election committee in existence, and is not likely to be one until the regular session, if the Speaker's policy prevails. In fact, it is alleged that many of the Democrats whose seats are contested are among the strongest supporters of Mr. Reed in his refusal to appoint the committees.

Congressman Swanson, who is strongly opposed to the proposed increase of 2 cents per pound on tobacco, in the Senate tariff bill, is in receipt of letters from numerous tobacco-planters and man turers, protesting against it. Mr. Swanson says that it would disarrange con-tracts made this year, unsettle trade, and probably be disastrous to many, JEFFERSON DAVIS'S DESK. It has recently been discovered that the desk formerly occupied by Hon, Jefferson Davis, when Secretary of War, has either been stolen or sold as old furniture. None of the present officials, some of whom have been in the department for a dozen years or more, even recollect that such a piece of furniture ever existed. A messenger, however, who has been in the department some twenty-nine years, and who now attends to the office of General Algor, his some translations. Alger, has some recollection of it.

man, whose name is W. C. Taylor, is very intelligent, and has a good memory.

He says he remembers the desk in question, and that about fifteen years ago a number of desks were sold by the department as old furniture, and among hem was the Davis desk. He remem! that about four years ago a German named Louis Kierth, who was a messenger in the department, told him he bought

He (Kierth) also said he sold it to se Chicago people, who said they wanted it for a Confederate museum in that city. Klerth said he was paid between $200 and $500 for the desk. Taylor says that he has no doubt that the desk Kierth sold was Mr. Davis's desk, and that Kierth bought it because he knew this and feit sure he could dispose of it to advantage.

It is more than probable that this valuable piece of official furniture might secured for the Confederate Museum in Richmond. It would be highly appreciated as a relic, though it had no immediate connection with the history of the Confederacy, beyond the fact that Mr.

guished statesmen as General James A. Walker, National-Committeeman Bowden, Judge Edmund Waddill, Collector Park Agnew, and prospective United-States-Marshal Morgan Treat were present. There was a long and spirited dis-cussion of the patronage situation, and it is given out that mutual concessions on the part of the two Republican con-gressmen, Walker and Yost, and the State Executive Committee were made and agreed upon. What the nature of these is is a profound secret, but it is known that all the gentlemen named called in a body at the White House to-day, as the united representatives of the Virginia Republicans. It is intimated that all the factions are placated, except those in the Second Congressional District, where the Wise people are under-stood to stand aloof against National-Committeeman Bowden. Colonel James D. Brady was not pre-sent at the Hotel Johnson meeting, and, of course, did not accompany the alleged united delegation to the White House, but it is said he has signified his quiescence in all that was agreed to wire. Colonel Erady was detained in Philadelphia on imports it business. Virginia Republicans here to-night say that the conference yesterday and the visit to the White House to-day ends factional feud beiween the congre men and the State Executive Committee, but this remains to be seen. As a round-up, it is authoritatively said that the President received the united delegation

The fire originated from the cleaning and burning of ditch banks, and fanned by a brisk wind, spread rapidly. Some thirty or forty acres of woodland on the farm of Cap-tain Wilson were burned over, and equal areas on adjoining farms. A good deal of cord-wood and fencing were destroyed. The fires were finally subdued after hard
